When people join hands, a force of immeasurable momentum is created.

Networking and interpersonal communication is always positive and mutually beneficial. Let our investment today bear fruit tomorrow.

By joining our network of highly driven students, alumni, and faculty, Friends of AIT becomes a common meeting ground, an agora. Where people sharing common aspirations will gather. Where new and brilliant ideas will be exchanged and debated. Where new opportunities will be created. Where new inventions are cultivated.

AIT has a vibrant and growing international student body from more than 20 countries. We are very privileged to assist in their realization of their goals while also benefiting from their culture and experiences. Bringing students to AIT from around the world, they are able to learn, live and study together, under the same sky where the oldest and most precious values of humanity were conceptualized by the greatest philosophers.

We are proud of our remarkable diaspora. Outstanding academic, technological and scientific achievements around the world bear the signature of people of Greek descent.

Your friendship with AIT will broaden international interest and knowledge on the future of technology and science, and our students and faculty will witness and share your achievements and success.

Please accept this invitation to join our family and share our vision.

Russia’s high-tech sector reels. After the first round of layoffs, the staff members of MeshNetics filtered in as usual, taking their positions inside powder-blue cubicles and making the ritual run to the cafeteria for coffee. On one level, they felt relief: The cuts had been made, and they were all still here. It made them especially glad to see one another. Appearance

- Visitors are expected to abide by local standards of modesty however, do not adopt native clothing. Traditional clothes on foreigners may be offensive.
- Despite the heat, most of the body must always remain covered.
- A jacket and tie are usually required for men at business meetings. Men should wear long pants and a shirt, preferably long-sleeved, buttoned up to the collar. Men should also avoid wearing visible jewelry, particularly around the neck.
- Women should always wear modest clothing in public. High necklines sleeves at least to the elbows are expected. Hemlines, if not ankle-length should at least be well below the knee. A look of baggy concealment should be the goal, pants or pant suits are not recommended. It is a good idea to keep a scarf handy, especially if entering a Mosque.

Behavior

- Avoid admiring an item to an excess, your host may feel obligated to give it to you. When offered a gift, it is impolite to refuse.
- Often shoes are removed before entering a building. Follow the lead of your host.
- Alcohol and pork are not consumed by those that observe the Muslim religion.
- There are several styles of greetings in use, it is best to wait for your counterpart to initiate the greeting. Men shake hands with other men. Some men will shake hands with women, however it is advisable for a businesswoman to wait for a man to offer his hand. A more traditional greeting between men involves grasping each other’s right hand, placing the left hand on the other’s right shoulder and exchanging kisses on each cheek.
- The left hand is considered unclean and reserved for hygiene. Gesture and eat with the right hand. Do not point at another person.
- Men walking hand in hand is a sign a friendship.

Communications

- Do not discuss the subject of women, not even to inquire about the health of a wife or daughter. The topic of Israel should also be avoided. Sports is an appropriate topic.
- Names are often confusing. It’s best to get the names (in English) of those you will meet, speak to, or correspond with. Learn both their full names and how they are to be addressed in person before you meet.
- Communication is slow, do not feel obligated to speak during periods of silence. "Yes" usually means "possibly".
- Meetings are commonly interrupted by phone calls and visits from friends and family.
- The person at a meeting who asks the most questions is likely to be the least important. The decision-maker is likely a silent observer.
- A customary greeting is salaam alaykum. You respond by shaking hands and saying kaif halak.
"There is no end to it in this city – wherever we walk we set foot upon history".

Greek Flag

"Freedom or Death" (Eleftheria i Thanatos) was the motto during the Greek Revolution against the Ottoman Empire. It is believed that the nine lines of the flag reflect the number of syllables in the Greek phrase "Eleftheria i Thanatos" = Freedom or Death.

The line pattern was chosen because of their similarity with the wavy sea that surrounds the shores of Greece. The cross demonstrates the respect and the devotion that Greek people have for the Greek Orthodox Church and signifies the important role of Christianity in the formation of the modern Hellenic Nation.

Independence Day, March 25

March 25 is the date of the Greek revolution against the Ottoman Turks. The Byzantine Empire fell to the Turks in 1453 and the Greeks remained under the Ottoman rule for nearly 400 years. During this time their language, their religion and their sense of identity remained strong.

On March 25, 1821, the bishop Germanos of Patras raised the Greek flag at the Monastery of Agia Lavra in Peloponese. The people of Greece shouted "Freedom or Death" and they fought the War of Independence for nine years (1821-1829) until a small part of modern Greece was finally liberated and it was declared an independent nation. The Treaty of London for Greek Independence, the first official international act which acknowledged Greece as an independent state.

The struggle for the liberation of all the lands inhabited by Greeks continued. In 1864, the Ionian Islands were added to Greece; in 1881 parts of Epirus and Thessaly. Crete, the islands of the Eastern Aegean and Macedonia were added in 1913 and Western Thrace in 1919. After World War II the Dodecanese islands were also returned to Greece.
